Detailed Action

Claims 12-16 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 12/1/03.

The Terminal Disclaimer filed 6/25/04 is acceptable and has been approved.

The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

The oath or declaration is defective because:

Non-initialed and/or non-dated alterations have been made to the oath or declaration. See 37 CFR 1.52(c).

Applicants have responded to this objection by indicating that the Declaration, as amended by applicants, is correct. This is not persuasive because a declaration or Oath cannot be amended (See for example MPEP 602.01). Any alterations in an Oath or Declaration not accompanied by initials of the Inventor to which the changes pertain are not acceptable.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Art Unit: 1636

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-3 and 5-6 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 5-10 of U.S. Patent No. 6,638,264 (hereafter the '264 patent). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because of the following. With regard to instant claims 1-3 and 5-6 they are generic to all that is recited in claims 5-10 of the '264 patent. That is, claims 5-10 of the '264 patent fall entirely within the scope of instant claims 1-3 and 5-6. Specifically, the method of delivery of a viral vector gene therapy pharmaceutical to a mammalian kidney is encompassed within and anticipates (i.e. is a species of) the broader instant claims which read on a method of delivery of a viral vector gene therapy pharmaceutical to any mammalian organ (it is also noted that claim 5 specifically recites a Markush group that includes the kidney as a target organ).

With regard to claim 6, which recites that the viral vector comprises a promoter and expression gene, this must be considered an obvious variant of the claims in the '264 patent because viral gene therapy vectors, to be effective, usually must deliver and express a transgene. Since expression of a transgene is usually accomplished by a promoter operably linked to said transgene, it must be considered that inclusion of a viral vector gene therapy pharmaceutical comprising an expression gene and promoter would have been obvious to the ordinary skilled artisan. The ordinary skilled artisan would have been motivated to include an expression gene and promoter in the viral vector gene therapy pharmaceutical to be delivered to the target organ because the purpose of viral gene therapy vectors is to deliver and express a transgene(s) in a target tissue.

Claims 1-3 and 5-6 are directed to an invention not patentably distinct from claims 5-10 of commonly assigned 6,638,264. Specifically, the instant claims are not patentably distinct from claims 5-10 of the '264 patent for the reasons outlined in the above obviousness type double patenting rejection.

The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office normally will not institute an interference between applications or a patent and an application of common ownership (see MPEP § 2302). Commonly assigned 6,638,264, discussed above, would form the basis for a rejection of the noted claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) if the commonly assigned case qualifies as prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) and the conflicting inventions were not commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made. In order for the examiner to resolve this issue, the assignee can, under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and 37 CFR 1.78(c), either show that the conflicting inventions were commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made, or name the prior inventor of the conflicting subject matter.

A showing that the inventions were commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made will preclude a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) based upon the commonly assigned case as a reference under 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g), or 35 U.S.C. 102(e) for applications filed on or after November 29, 1999.

Art Unit: 1636

Claims 1-6 are directed to an invention not patentably distinct from claims 1-3 of commonly assigned 5,871,464. Specifically, the claims are not patentably distinct for the reasons cited in the obviousness type double patenting rejection of record in the previous Office Action.

Claims 1-11 are directed to an invention not patentably distinct from claims 1-2, 6-9 and 13 of commonly assigned 6,342,214. Specifically, the claims are not patentably distinct for the reasons cited in the obviousness type double patenting rejection of record in the previous Office Action.

The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office normally will not institute an interference between applications or a patent and an application of common ownership (see MPEP 2302). Each of commonly assigned U.S. Patents 6,342,214 and 5,871,464, discussed above, would form the basis for a rejection of the noted claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) if the commonly assigned case qualifies as prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) and the conflicting inventions were not commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made. In order for the examiner to resolve this issue, the assignee is required under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and 37 CFR 1.78(c) to either show that the conflicting inventions were commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made or to name the prior inventor of the conflicting subject matter. Failure to comply with this requirement will result in a holding of abandonment of the application.

A showing that the inventions were commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made will preclude a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) based upon the commonly assigned case as a reference under 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g), or 35 U.S.C. 102(e) for applications filed on or after November 29, 1999.

Applicants have not apparently directly responded to this issue. Applicants indicate that the instant application and the two above patents are currently commonly owned. This is not persuasive because evidence of current common ownership is not sufficient to overcome the above rejection. As noted above, a showing that the instant application and the two patents were commonly owned at the time the invention in this application was made will be sufficient to address this issue.

Any rejection not repeated in this Office Action is withdrawn.

No Claims are allowed.
